That Talk About Replaying the Thanksgiving Game-It's Fact Can You Feature It?

and that aint all

Can you feature, even in your wildest moments, ever experiencing again the same thrills you did that Thanksgiving afternoon when the brawny Tiger backs relentlessly tore gaping holes in the aching Kansas line time and again?

Can you feature ever again being filled with the same delicious satisfaction as when little dewy-eyed capricious "Ginger"-bless her little soul-captivated us all at the Hoop-la of the Elks?

Can you feature a boy from our own M. U. puzzling the first nighters on Broadway's Great White Way and appearing here for your delectations at a local theatre after being heralded as a star in as brilliant an aggregation as Gertrude Hoffman's revue?

Can you feature hearing the elect of Mizzou's famous warblers and serenaders chorkling their crooning harmonies of the dear old college days in their first appearance of the year?

Can you feature hearing the famous Quadrangle orchestra with its shricking saxes in ricocheting riotry, fanatical traps and golden sputtering cornets all turned loose in a grand pandemonium of syncopated joyous revelry.

Can you feature all these wonderful embodiments of the greatest and most successful term in the history of the school-th se battering drives when the Missouri line in a clash of pure brawn against brawn forced the Kansas battlers to give inch by inch and yard by yard until the bruised warriors from the Kaw prayed for the game to end -those sweet memories of the moonlight serenades when you woke to hear the strains of the lilting melodies so dear to the college heart come wafting o'er the wellloved campus-the pounding feverish rhythm of the school's master musicians as you swung out onto the old assembly floor-can you feature being able to enjoy all this once again before the dreaded exams start and you leave our old Mizzou?

Can you feature all this embodied in one evening?

Well, you can.

What do we mean? Why it's Varsity day!-the first that Missouri had ever had, We're going to send the school year out in a blaze of glory-for this one night we're going to forget exams-we're going to live again every joy that has passed since the

It will be a night that will be with you always. You'll hear the weeping jazz of the school's famous orchestra long after you've left the sacred columns forever behind. You'll have embedded deep in your heart the picture of winsome little "Ginger" when profs have long since failed to worry you. You'll paste on the memory book of your school life a big red letter for this famous day-and you can't afford to miss it. You must be there. We need you to make it perfect. You belong to it; you're a part of it. She's probaby waiting for that "date call" even now as she reads with a thrill the announcement of the feature supreme in the college annals of the state.

The chance will never come again. When the orchestra has played the final exit for the last show on Monday night, it will do no good for some one to tell you what you missed and for you to decide that you will go the next time. For as that last note dies away-Varsity Day passes into history and the most famous film ever "shot" in college circles starts on its long tour around the state to try to satisfy the demands from the many high schools and alumnus chapters that keep pouring in. It goes out on the midnight train to St. Louis to be shown at the Shubert-Jefferson on Tuesday. Many of the players who appear will leave the school at Christmas never to return. So with this the best effort ever produced in school entertainment and the biggest boost for Mizzon that she has ever had-we wantyou and expect you. It's the Tiger call. You must be there. The exams and the end of the term and parting of friendships will come all too soon. You've simply got to come-it won't be complete without you. Take this occ night off for a ges-together with the bunch.

This program will be rendered three times on Monday, December 13—those three times and no more. There are others who have claims and that four thousand feet of film depicting every play of the Kansas game will then go out to advertise the home of the Valiant Tiger to the students who will follow in your footsteps and to call back fond memories to the hearts of the Tigers that used to be. If you were at the Thanksgiving game you will appear in the film?

The seat sale will commence at twelve noon tomorrow. There will be no free list. When the three shows are sold out-and we believe from the unprecedented demand for blocks of seats which have been received so far that we will be able to announce the sell-out of one performance tomorrow afternoon-we repeat-when the three shows are sold out, the seat sale will close-and much though we regret it, you will lose your chance unless you have your ticket. There won't be any more and the show will not be repeated. It will show for the one day only-and the sales from the two high schools and the colleges are yet to come in. Make your arrangements now-tomorrow may be

The proceeds will go to the payment of the enormous bills incidental to the production of this film which is student produced, student titled and student edited, and which we hold up with pride to the collegiate world as the first moving picture film thus conceived and executed in American College history. Missouri is again the leader. That's what the Tiger spirit is doing-that's where the proceeds will go. All that is asked is that you do your share.

It will be shown at the Hall Theatre Monday matinee and two night shows. At twelve sharp tomorrow, the tickets will be on sale at the Palms, Pennant, the Co-Op and at Harris'. Tomorrow night may be too late. There will be no reserved seats. The admission price will be fifty cents for any seat in the house. The house will be cleared after the first night show. If you don't want to be disappointed, buy your ticket as soon
